NEW STUDIO A.D. Opens This Month in Albuquerque, NM Open-House on October 1, 2010

August 12, 2010 – Recent arrivals to Albuquerque, NM, artists + designers, Melissa Roberts and Kurt Schlough are opening their new art + design studio near the downtown area of Mountain Road/Broadway NE. An attractive, up and coming ABQ neighborhood, the area houses the creative likes of Modulus Design, Soma Interiors, [AC]2 Gallery, Wheels Museum business offices, Erin Adams Design, Tangerine Café Design Group, Fab Lab ABQ and Marble Brewery among others.

Roberts + Schlough bring their combined 25 years of professional art + design practice to New Studio A.D. The studio specializes in architectural design, project management, art + design development/creation/sourcing + procurement/installation for both temporary and permanent interior + exterior environments and events (commercial, residential, civic, community, film, theatre). Roberts + Schlough also conceptualize and execute unconventional and memorable art + design related exhibitions + events. In addition to their personal studio practice, they both give back to the global art + design communities by currently serving as acting volunteer directors of BECA: Bridge for Emerging Contemporary Art, an international non-profit project now in its third year of operation.

New Studio A.D. will host its first open-house during Albuquerque's First Friday ArtsCrawl on October 1, 2010 from 5-8pm at their location: 312 Rosemont Ave, NE near Mountain Road/Broadway NE. The couple has been busy prepping their new studio for both their personal professional art + design practice as well as for hosting upcoming BECA exhibitions. Roberts + Schlough are looking forward to meeting new friends, future collaborators and new clients. New Studio A.D. is currently open by appointment. Please email newstudioad@gmail.com or call 505-244-0223.
